SNA NEWSPAPER OF THE YEAR

Week of March 31, 2011 | 170th Year, No. 49

The eighth-grade class of 2011 at Trinity School is making news. More than one-third of the eighth grade class has been awarded $405,200 in scholarships to attend high school next fall. The scholarships are from both independent and Catholic high schools in the Baltimore area.

The Trinity School student scholarship recipients are Connor Ganley, Sharon Hull, Jack Finn, Michael Finn, Brent Lawrence, Brady Link, Jonathan Jeyanchandran, Gregory Wills, Alex Reardon, Cory Christopher, Marissa Varnado, Madison Ehrenreich, Marissa Varnado and Lauren Ridlon.

Noteworthy among the Trinity School scholarship recipients is student Sharon Hull who was awarded both the full four-year Wagley Academic Scholarship at St. Paul's School for Girls and a partial scholarship to Glenelg County School. Another Trinity School Class of 2011 stand out is Connor Ganley who received both the Brother Dominic four-year scholarship to Mount St. Joseph High School and a half scholarship to Loyola High School.

Best of luck to all the Trinity scholarship recipients as they continue their studies at the following schools: Calvert Hall, Loyola, Mount St. Joseph, St. Paul's School for Girls, Our Lady of Good Counsel, Mount DeSales and the Institute of Notre Dame.
